Nova Scotia Pauses Use of AstraZeneca Vaccine
Health and Wellness / COVID - 19
May 12, 2021 - 3:19 PM
Nova Scotia will pause the use of AstraZeneca's COVID-19 vaccine as the first dose effective today, May 12.

Just to get it out of the way, it's disturbing how someone who looks this unhealthy could be a Medical Officer of Health, as he is for the Province of Nova Scotia. Supposedly he was a rugby player, although it's hard to tell. For some inexplicable reason, the media treats people like this as rock stars.

Anyhow, Strang is a huge proponent of endless lockdowns, and pushing the big pharma agenda. However, even when the consequences of this are becoming obvious, he won't admit any responsibility. See the above video, and the following quote:

Nova Scotia will pause the use of AstraZeneca's COVID-19 vaccine as the first dose effective today, May 12.

The decision is based on an abundance of caution due to an observed increase in the rare blood clotting condition linked to this vaccine and because Nova Scotia has enough mRNA vaccine to immunize people age 40 and older.

Anyone who is scheduled to receive their first dose of AstraZeneca vaccine will receive an email canceling that appointment and asking them to book a new appointment for either the Pfizer or Moderna vaccine.

A decision on second doses will be made once more information is received from the National Advisory Committee on Immunization. Nova Scotia's vaccine plan will be adjusted based on this guidance.

The AstraZeneca vaccine has been linked to vaccine-induced immune thrombotic thrombocytopenia, or VITT, in other provinces.

Anyone with any of the following symptoms after receiving the AstraZeneca vaccine should seek medical help right away or call 911 and say they have received the vaccine:

-shortness of breath
-chest pain
-stomach pain that will not go away
-leg swelling
-a sudden and severe headache
-a headache that will not go away and is getting worse
-blurred vision
-skin bruising (other than the area vaccinated), reddish or purplish spots, or blood blisters under the skin

The above symptoms are most likely to occur between days four and 14 after receiving the AstraZeneca vaccine.

Have to love the mental gymnastics here. Even as Robert Strang tells Nova Scotia that getting the vaccines was the right decision, it's pulled from use (probably forever), and people are urged to seek medical attention for a variety of symptoms.

The message is touted nationally as well. Even though this "vaccine" is being pulled for health reasons, Canadians should take pride in the decision to get a first (or second) dose. It's mind blowing that people could actually take this seriously.

Strang has taken it upon himself to decide what's true and what's not, and to condemn "misinformation".

Interesting side note: Strang took some flak for opting out of AstraZeneca himself. Perhaps he doesn't really believe what he preaches.

So, why is Nova Scotia so hesitant (pardon the pun) to completely throw AstraZeneca under the bus?

yes

Wild idea, but perhaps AstraZeneca having 15 people currently registered (as in right now) as lobbyists with the Nova Scotia Government played some role in not completely bashing their product. And no, this is not limited to a single company.

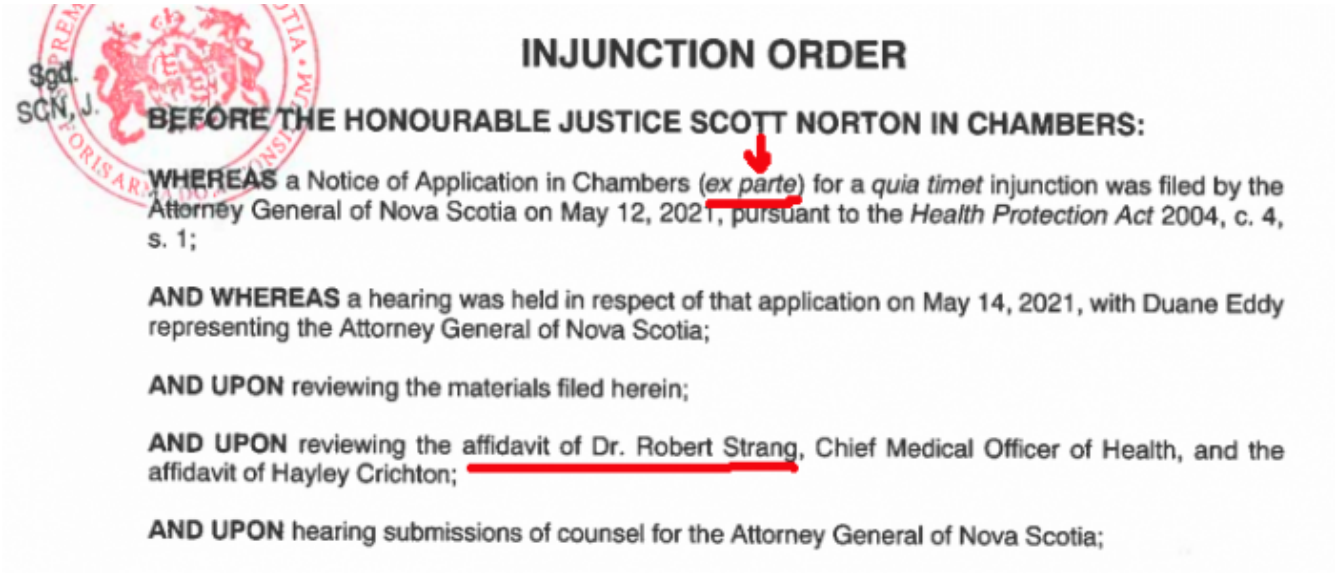
The Doctors of Nova Scotia doesn't seem to raise too many red flags. However, having a lobbyist from GlaxSmithKline is an interesting bit. Likewise with Innovative Medicines, Merck, and the Pharmacy Association of Canada. It's almost as if there was some pattern to the types of organization that are lobbying in Nova Scotia.

Keep in mind, these are only the registrations that are documented. It's quite likely that other things have gone on behind the scene for which records aren't posted.

Strang worked with Theresa Tam on the Special Advisory Committee on the Epidemic of Opioid Overdoses Regarding Updated Data on Canada's Opioid Crisis in 2018. Interesting. Now he pushes for Nova Scotians to take "vaccines" that are not approved, but only have interim authorization, based on low standards.



INJUNCTION ORDER

Sgd. SCN, J.

BEFORE THE HONOURABLE JUSTICE SCOTT NORTON IN CHAMBERS:

WHEREAS a Notice of Application in Chambers (ex parte) for a quia timet injunction was filed by the Attorney General of Nova Scotia on May 12, 2021, pursuant to the Health Protection Act 2004, c. 4, s. 1;

AND WHEREAS a hearing was held in respect of that application on May 14, 2021, with Duane Eddy representing the Attorney General of Nova Scotia;

AND UPON reviewing the materials filed herein;

AND UPON reviewing the affidavit of Dr. Robert Strang, Chief Medical Officer of Health, and the affidavit of Hayley Crichton;

AND UPON hearing submissions of counsel for the Attorney General of Nova Scotia;

On Wednesday May 12, 2021, an application for injunction was filed in Nova Scotia Supreme Court. It was granted on Friday based on 2 Affidavits, one from Robert Strang. This was done "ex parte", meaning that there was no opposing side to challenge it.

At a minimum, it would have been nice to see what was in those Affidavits.

The result is that public gatherings, including gatherings to these illegal measures have been effectively banned. The ban (unless thrown out) would remain in place as long as the Government decides there is a public health emergency.

In participating in this, Strang demonstrated himself to be nothing more than a thug. He convinced a judge to strip away Nova Scotia's right to assemble, something that could never have been accomplished legislatively.
